VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, on Friday, Mr. Thoma, of Fairfax, reported a resolution declaring it inexpedient to further legislate on a resolution in relation to exempting one slave from execution, in addition to the property now exempt by law; and a resolution providing that administration of a decedent's estate shall not be granted to females. Mr. Thomas also reported a bill authorizing the Coun-Also, a bill to amend the 8th section of chapter 209 of the Code of Virginia, concerning execution of sentence of death. Also, a bill House bill "making an appropriation for the purchase and manufacture of arms and munitions war," on its third reading, came up as unfinished business. The motion pending, was that of Mr. Smith, of Greenbrier, to strike out the 1st, 2nd and 3rd sections, providing for the establishment of an armory. The amendment of Mr. Smith was sustained by Messrs. Newman and Rives, opposed by Messrs. Coghill, Isbell and August. After being debated for several hours, Mr. Smith's motion was defeated-ayes 19, noes 25. Mr. Wickham then offered a substitute for the whole bill. Pending its consideration the Senate, on motion of Mr. Johnson,

In the House of Delegates, Mr. Seddon dered to be printed :

Mr. Keen, of Pittsylvania, submitted a proposition in the shape of a proviso to the above resolution, to be laid upon the table and printed, but after remarks by several members as to parliamentary usage, he withdrew it and signified his purpose to offer it as an amendment when Mr. Seddon's resolution comes up for consideration.

The following is a copy of the proposed proviso:

Provided, that the General Assembly of Virginia recommend to the conservative elements of all political parties of the Union, a candidate for President and Vice President, to be voted for at the next Presidential election—the former to be chosen from the Democratic party, and the latter from the Opposition party, and call upon the conservative elements of all the political parties, North and South, to ratify, sustain and elect such nominees, and in the event of their election, the foregoing resolution to be null and void; otherwise the Governor of this Commonwealth be and he is hereby clothed with full power to appoint --hereby clothed with full power to appoint — absurd in itself, and infore burdensome to the memory than the benefit from it would Commissioners, and request of our sister Southern the memory than the benefit from it would School are a man about sixty years of age, belonging to COLLISION ON THE VIRGINIA CENTRAL RAILROAD .- A collision of a dangerous, but luckily not of a serious character, occurred upon the Virginia Central Railroad, on Sat-Cobham Station, came in contact with a gondola, loaded with cross-ties, which had Lynchburg at 5 o'clock, A. M. been left upon the track inadvertently .-The passengers were much frightened, and one of the Mail Agents leaped from the train. Fortunately, however, the only damage done was the destruction of the gondola, and the scattering of its load. The passenger train remained on the track, and after a short delay, to remove fragments, was enabled to proceed.

SMITHSONIAN LECTURES .- The Lecture at the Smithsonian Institution on Friday evening, by Professor Peirce, was one of deep interest to the thinking mind. It was a passing view of the relative mathematical qualities of the various prominent races of the human family, and a comprehensive account of their characteristics in this respect. All POTOMAC, PIEDMONT, AND VALLEY AGRIthe races have powers of this kind, which are occasionally largely developed in each, but among modern nations Professor Peirce regarded the French as now pre-eminent, though as time passes and the medley of all the best races which go to make up the population of the United States shall come to be more thoroughly compounded, he believes the people of America will surpass all others. The superior geometrical genius of the ancient Greeks, and modern Germans, the venerative and retentive minds of the Arabians, the analytic and descriptive capacity of the French, the arithmetical excellence and utilitarian tendency of the English, and the peculiarities of the Hebrew and Egyptian races, were scanned with great ability, judgment and tact. He deems the imaginative and mathematical faculties of the mind to be closely connected, if not absolutely flowing from the same source. In the course of his remarks on the boldness and promptitude of action, so much the distinction of Americans, Prof. Peirce sounded a note of | jan 19 patriotic warning; he spoke of our pride and self-confidence; thought that there may be reason to suppose that some check is designed us by Divine Providence; that we may become humbled; and expressed his belief that the nation would be ultimately all the better for it.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION .- At the annual meeting, held on Saturday evening last, Sylvester Scott, of the Young Ladies Institute, was elected President and John S. Beach, of the State Free School, Secretary for the year 1860. A few remarks on the manner of teaching spelling and difinitions in schools, were then made by the gentleman appointed for that purpose at the last meeting. He contended that, instead of teaching spelling in the ordinary manner, by giving out words to be spelled orally, the teacher should, whenever the pupils could write, require them to write them from dictation. He also held that requiring pupils, HUNNEWELL, Chemist and Pharmaceutist. especially young children, to commit columns For sale by all Druggists and dealers everyof dictionary, or definitions to memory was absurd in itself, and more burdensome to where.
